Making a custom template for your design projects can save time and effort. Before spending a lot of time crafting a custom template, there are a number of online websites that offer downloadable custom templates. Using Photoshop for Social Media Instead of using standard white background layouts for your social media images, use a custom designed background. That way, you won't look like an amateur. Designing your social media background Many online sites offer custom background designs. If you're not able to obtain a background via an online service, you can design your own. Follow these steps to design your own background for social media sites: 1. Choose a background color. The color of your page background will vary depending on what you're using the background for. However, here are a few color schemes that you can use as your guide: Blue, green, and purple — These colors are classic for logos, business cards, and websites. They also have a universal appeal. Orange — Orange (or sunset orange, as this color is sometimes called) is a great choice for children's websites, business cards, brochures, and print materials. Pink, red, and brown — These colors tend to be used for weddings, Halloween, and Christmas. White — Aside from using white as the background on a website, you can also use it to create an image that represents a solid color, or for the image of a person. 2. Sketch your design. Ideally, the resulting background will be on a printed piece of paper, but you can work on your design by using a digital image or even by drawing directly on your computer. 3. Create a PNG or JPEG file. After you draw your design, save the image as a JPEG or PNG file format, which is the most commonly used file format for social media images. To find a JPEG or PNG file on your computer, first navigate to its location in the Windows Explorer program (see Book I, Chapter 2 for instructions on finding and accessing the Windows Explorer program). Then double-click the file to open it in the program. When the program opens, go to the Save As option at the bottom of the screen. Select the desired option, choose where to save the file, and then click Save. 4. Upload your file to your online site. To create your image, use a program like Microsoft Photo Editor to convert your image into the

Q: Is it possible to see posts by a moderator in the Activity page in SO? Is there any way to see the posts which a moderator has replied to other users like the other top users? A: If you filter by moderator flag status, it will show you the activity for each moderator. Clicking on each moderator also takes you to that moderator's activity page, but as you pointed out, that only shows the most recent activity. You can also filter by moderator (if you're looking only at moderator activity) in the moderator tool, which should link to the moderator's activity page. (Of course, if you click on the [Operations] tab, it'll show you all the activity for all moderators combined. I'm not sure how useful that is.) Prevalence and risk factors for methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus in community-acquired lower respiratory tract infections in hospitalized children: results of the multicenter studies. Dramatic increases in methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus (MRSA) in clinical isolates have been observed in the last decade, and the prevalence of MRSA is believed to be increasing worldwide. The aim of this study was to establish the incidence of MRSA in community-acquired lower respiratory tract infections (LRTIs) in children, and to identify risk factors for MRSA colonization. A total of 16,307 blood and/or sputum samples were collected from 1286 children with community-acquired LRTIs aged 0-15 years admitted to 9 hospitals. S. aureus, including MRSA, was detected in 677 (20.8%) patients. MRSA was identified in 44 (4.3%) of the 998 isolates of S. aureus. The incidence of MRSA infection was highest in the first week of admission. Treatment failure rates for MRSA patients were similar to those of MRSA-negative patients. Univariate and multivariate analyses revealed that MRSA was positively correlated with the following risk factors: hospitalization for at least 30 days (p = 0.024, odds ratio (OR): 1.4), use of non-antibiotic topical agents (p = 0.016, OR: 4.9), and use of empirical antibiotic therapy in the previous year (p = 0.038, OR: 1.2). MRSA

"Virtual" flow-shear-stress-meter: a new tool for measuring vascular wall shear stress. The characterization of the velocity profiles around the arterial wall is a prerequisite for the accurate calculation of wall shear-stress (WSS). The current method to obtain the wall velocity profile consists in measuring the velocity profiles of the blood flow inside the shear layer at the luminal wall level. It is accomplished in human studies by injection of fluorescent particles inside the lumen of an arterial segment, which is then imaged by means of a laser-speckle technique. The particles are expelled from the lumen by use of a pump-and-expire-cycle. In this manuscript, the data acquired in human subjects are shown to be in good agreement with the data derived from a numerical simulation based on a finite-element-analysis modeling of the fully viscoelastic blood flow. Therefore, the technique would seem to be sufficient for the quantification of wall shear stress.// This file is part of libigl, a simple c++ geometry processing library. // // Copyright (C) 2015 Alec Jacobson // // This Source Code Form is subject to the terms of the Mozilla Public License // v. 2.0.
